IMS Health is a leading provider of information, services & technology for the healthcare industry, covering markets in 100+ countries.

Whether our clients are decision makers in life sciences, payers, providers or policymakers, our analytical, commercial services and consulting capabilities are key to competitive advantage & achieving high-quality, cost-effective healthcare.

We are currently looking for an intern to join our Consulting Team within Services Division.

As an intern with IMS Health, you will be responsible, under supervision, for actively participating in/supporting the development and delivery of client projects with a specific focus on advanced analytics by:

As an intern with IMS Consulting Team, the candidate will be involved, under supervision, in development and delivery of consulting projects by:

- conducting desk research to a specific brief using internal and external sources
- performing quantitative analyses to aid development of recommendations
- supporting project team for the preparation, execution and follow up of client workshops
- taking responsibility for creating sections of reports, presentations and other client deliverables
- proactively developing knowledge of the healthcare industry and consulting methodologies
- acquiring deep knowledge of IMS proprietary data sources

LOCATION
Milan or Rome

DESIRED SKILLS AND EXPERIENCE

- MSc in Economics with strong record of academic achievement
- Ability to analyze complex data, draw conclusions and succinctly summarize recommendations
- Excellent Microsoft Office Skills: strong skills in working with Excel spreadsheets and creating presentations with Power Point
- Proficiency both in English and Italian
- Strong communication, analytical and problem solving skills
- Good planning, time-management and organisational skills
- Ability to work on a team

To apply, please send your resume to Flaminia D’Andria – fdandria@it.imshealth.com (job ref. Cons2016).

For further information, visit the company website www.imshealth.it or follow our LinkedIn page.